Instruction for Forest Settlement Officers in Assam.

Detailed instruction for Forest Settlement Officers in Assam will be found in Provincial Government's circular No. 14-R, dated the 20th March, 1897, which must be carefully studied and followed. They are produced below :

- (i) The procedure to be observed in the constitution of reserved forest is prescribed in Chapter II of the Assam Forest Regulation, VII of 1891. It is the duty of Forest Settlement Officer to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the law contained in that Chapter. The following instructions are intended to indicate and draw attention to the leading points which concern a Forest Settlement Officer. They are not intended to relieve the Forest settlement Officer in the duty of studying the Regulation itself.

(ii) Section 6 and 7.

After the publication of a notification under S. 5 of the Regulation, and the appointment of a Forest Settlement Officer, the first step to be taken by the Forest Settlement Officer is the publication of a proclamation specifying the situation and limits of the proposed forest setting forth the substance of S. 7 of the Regulation which bars the accrual of forest rights in the proposed reserve from the date on which the proclamation is published, and prohibits building, the clearing of land cultivation and the cutting of timber within the specified area except under certain conditions; explaining the effects of the reservation of the forest; and requiring persons claiming the right to cultivation by jhuming or any other right in or over the proposed reserve to specify by a fixed date, either in writing or verbally, the nature of their right or claims. A period of at least three months from the date of the publication must be allowed for the presentation of claims. In order to facilitate the preparation and publication of the proclamation required by S. 6 skeleton forms are sent to the Forest Settlement Officer. A copy of the form is appended to these instructions. All that the Forest Settlement Officer has to do is to have the blanks in the forms filled in, to sign the proclamations and to publish them. The proclamations should ordinarily be in Assamese or in Bengali, but if in any special case proclamation in any other lingoes are required, they can be obtained on application to the Secretariat.

(iii) Section 7.

It should be noted that the issue of proclamation under S. 6 does not prevent the exercise of right already enjoyed and in existence at the time of issue of proclamation, except right of building clearing land for ordinary cultivation, or cutting timber for purpose of trade or manufacture. The right thus excepted even though claimed by people living in or near the proposed reserve, must not be exercised except with the written permissions of the Forest Settlement Officer. But any existing right other than those specially excepted may be exercised without such permission. For example, a person living in or near the proposed reserve may not with out written permission from the Forest Settlement Officer, build a new house or clear land for ordinary cultivation in the area specified in the proclamation. But he may, if he has been in the habit of doing so extract bamboos for domestic use and not for sale, and subject to local rules and practice, he may clear land for jhum cultivation, if he has been in the habit of practicing such cultivation within the specified area. These examples do not exhaust the list of acts which may and may not be done after the issue of proclamation. They are merely examples illustration the law.

(iv) Section 6.

The manner in which the proclamation is to be published in S. 6 Copies of it should be posted in the court-houses, at the headquarter of each town ship in which any portion of the proposed reserve is situated and in conspicuous places in every town or village or near the proposed reserve. Copies should also be sent for the distribution to the headmen of the circles and villages in the neighbourhood. The Forest Settlement Officer should not merely publish the proclamation. He should personally explain its meaning to the local village officials and if possible, to the villagers concerned. The action taken by the Forest Settlement Officer in the matter of publishing and explaining the proclamation should be recorded in his proceeding.

(v) Section 8.

As soon as practicable after the issue of the proclamation prescribed in S. 6. of Regulation, the Forest Settlement Officer should visit the proposed reserve. If a Forest Officer has been appointed under S. 5 to assist the Forest Settlement Officer, both officers should visit the reserve together. The following general instruction relating to the inquiry in to right and carefully followed. It should be clearly understood that the enquiry is to be made by the Forest

Settlement Officer, and not by Forest Office who may be appointed to assist him. The full responsibility for the inquiry and for the order passed rest with the Forest Settlement Officer, and he alone should sign the records of evidence or statement, which may be taken down any order which may be passed or report which may be submitted. The Forest Settlement Officer (with the Forest Office, if any) should inspect inasmuch as possible of the proposed reserve and should afford the people likely to be affected by the proposed reservation full opportunity of plotting forward their claims on the spot. He should remain for some time in or near the proposed reserve for this purpose

- (vi) The Forest Settlement Officer is bound by law to take down in written any settlements of claims in respect of jhum cultivation, or to rights of other kinds made under S. 6, and to enquire in to all such claims. It is essential that record of the enquiry should be full and complete. Any evidence tender in support of such claims should be recorded in the same as evidence is recorded in a civil proceeding, but witnesses should not be put on oath or the solemn affirmation. The Forest Officer (if any) should be allowed to question the witnesses, to produce any evidence bearing on any claim, and to state any objection he may wish to make. Any such objection must be recorded by the Forest Settlement Officer. The enquiry should not be confined to merely recording evidence produced by the claimants or by the Forest Officer. The Forest Settlement Officer should himself call for and examine any person whom he thinks likely to have knowledge of the facts. Under S. 9 he has power to summon witnesses and to require the production of documents, besides the power to enter, by himself or any officer authorised by him for the purpose, upon any land and, to survey, demarcate, and make a map of the same. It is his duty to ascertain the facts, and he is bound to enquire not only in to claims in to put forward by the people, but also in the existence of any right or practice, though no formal claim may have been presented. In short, it is the business of the Forest Settlement Officer to ascertain by full and careful enquiry the actual state of things, the manner in which the reservation, if carried out will affect the people in the neighbourhood, and the rights and privileges, if any, to which they are entitled. He has no power to confer by entry in the record any privileges which have never enjoyed, merely because he thinks it expedient to grant them. But he is bound to express fully in reporting his operation, his opinion and advice as to any such privileges which he may think it advisable to confer in the interested of the people.

- (vii) This classes of claims with which the Forest Settlement Officer has to deal, and the manner in which they are to be dealt with, are described in S. 10 11, 12, 13 and 14.

(a) Claim relating to the practice of jhum cultivation- S.10.

Any claim of this kind should, after enquiry be dealt with as provided in S. 10. Special attention is directed to the requirements of this section which are somewhat complicated. It is for the Forest Settlement Officer to record a statement on consideration of the evidence, setting forth the particulars of the claim and of any local rule or order under which the practice is allowed regulated, and submit the statement to the Provincial Government together with his opinion whether the practice should be permitted or habitated wholly or in part. If he considers that the person making the claim can, without inconvenience, find sufficient land within easy reach of their village outside the proposed reserve, the continued practice of jhum cultivation with it should not be recommended, except under conditions accepted by the Forest Officer. If it is considered necessary to allow jhum cultivation in the proposed reserved the Forest Settlement Office may deal with the matter in one or two ways. He may, with the previous sanction of the State Government, either alter the limits of the proposed reserve, so as to exclude from it land sufficient for the needs of the persons claiming the right, or permit jhum cultivation in certain part of the reserve, subject to such rules and condition, as he may, with such previous sanction, prescribe. In fixing conditions and making rule under this section for the sanction of Government, the Forest Settlement Officer should take in to consideration the views of Forest Settlement Officer, if any, who is assisting him. It should be borne in mind that an order cannot be passed permitting the practice of jhum cultivation in the whole of the proposed reserve, and that an order cannot be passed, permitting practice of jhum cultivation in any part of the reserve as finally constituted, except under conditions previously sanctioned by the Governor. Finally, any permission granted under this section by the State Government to practice jhum cultivation, is in all cases privilege subject to control, restriction and abolition by the State Government, and is not right.

(b) Claims to right of way - S. 12.

The Forest Settlement Officer must after enquiry pass an order specifying the particulars of any claim of this kind, and admitting or rejecting it wholly or in part.

Claims of this class will seldom present any features of special difficulty.

(c) Claims to right to water-courses or to use of water -S. 12.

In this case, also an order must be passed specifying of the claim and admitting or rejecting it wholly or in part. The auction to be taken in the case of claims of this seldom involve any difficulty.

(d) Claims to right of pasture – Ss. 12 and 13.

As in other cases, an order must be passed specifying the particulars of each claim of this kind and admitting or rejecting it wholly or in part. Where a claim of this class is admitted, the provisions of 13 and 14 must also be observed. The order may either provide for the exercise of the right by excluding sufficient land from proposed reserve or may continue the right of pasture within the reserve, or may commute the right by a money payment or, if the claimant agrees, by the grant of land or in such other manner as seems suitable. This is a case in which under S. 12 (2), position and area (which may be approximately stated) of the land over which the right is to be exercised, should be recorded. The area may be the whole or any part of the reserve. In continuing a right of pasture under this section, the Forest Officer must record a provision that the right is subject to such rules as the Governor may prescribe. Special attention is directed to s. 13 (2), by which it is laid down that an order passed continuing a right of pasture shall, as far as practicable, include a statement of the number and description of the cattle limits within which, and the reason during which they are permitted to graze. A right under this section may be admitted to a class of people (as peoples of specified village) or to person specified by name. Any other particulars necessary to define the extent to which a right of this kind is continued, and the mode in which it may be exercised must also be recorded, as well as the extent, if any, to which the benefit of the right may be leased, sold or bartered.

(e) Claims to right to Forest produce - Section 12.

The general rule that an order must be passed specifying the particulars of a claim of this kind and admitting or rejecting it in whole or in part, applies in this case as in other cases. The provisions of S. 13 also apply to claims of these classes. As in the previous case, if the claim is admitted the order may exclude from the reserve sufficient land for the purpose of satisfying the claim. If this is not done, the right claimed must either be continued to the claimant, subject to the rules which the Governor may prescribe or be commuted subject to any rules which the Governor may prescribe, or be commuted for a money's payment or if the claimant agrees, by the grant of land or in such other manner as seems suitable. Whether the claim is met by exclusion of land from the proposed reserve, or by continuing the right within the reserve, or by commuting it under S. 14, it is necessary that the order should state whether the forest produce referred to may be sold or bartered, or whether it is only for the use of the persons exercising the right. If the continuance of the right within the reserve is permitted, the order must specify, as far as practicable, the quantity of timber or other forest produce that may be taken. Any other particulars necessary to define the extent to which a right of this kind is continued, and the mode in which it may be exercised, must also be recorded, as well as the extent, if any, to which it may be sold or bartered. The exercise of a right to forest produce may be permitted in the whole or any part of the reserve, and the right may be admitted to a class of people, e. g., the people of a specified village or to person specified by name.

(f) Other claims not include in the above classes
- Section 11.

Section 11 prescribed the method of doling with claims no included in the proceeding classes. In this case, as in other cases, their Forest Settlement Officer is required to pass an order specifying the particulars of each claim and admitting or rejecting it wholly or in part. In case in which as claim of this class is admitted, the Forest Settlement Officer must either arrange with the claimant for surrender of the right or excluded the land in respect of which rather is claim for the limits of the proposed reserve, or acquire the land under the Land Acquisition Act as modified by this section. Recourse to this procedure will seldom be necessary.

(g) It is not frequently desirable to allow villagers to enjoy the use of paths, of pasturage, of minor forest produce and other easements to which they have been accustomed. Such grant should, however only be shown as right in those case in which their are reasonable ground for holding that such right are legally established. In all other case they should be shown as concessions.

A right of way, a right to pasturage, to the use of minor forest produce or to other easements can only be legally acquired against the stare by grant of covenant or by uninterrupted use under claim of right for period of 60 years [vide S. 26 acct IX of 1908].

(viii) Section 20.

When any claim is preferred, the Forest Settlement Officer should consider under which of the above classes it falls, and should then proceed to investigate and pass orders on it in accordance with the above instruction. He should explain that any order issued by him is subject to the Governors sanction and this should be clearly stated in the order. A translation of every order passed on any claim should be furnished death duly to the person or parson affected by the order to enable hometown appeal if he wished to do so. Attention is called to S. 16 of the Regulation which requires the Forest Settlement Officer to receive an forward to the appellate authority any petitions of appeal against his order. Whenever an order on a claim is passed, the Forest Settlement Officer should inform the person or persons concerned that they are at liberty to appeal within three month, and that they may lodge their appeals with him.

- (ix) After completing the enquiry and passing orders on all claims presented to him the Forest Settlement Officer shall forward his proceedings to the office appointed to her appeals from his orders. The proceeding shall include a copy of the notification issued under S. 5 and of the proclamation issued under S. 6, a record of the manner in which the proclamation was published and of steps taken to explain it the record of all evidence take in the cause of the enquiry, of all order passed by the Forest Settlement Officers, and of any objection made under S. 8 by the Forest Officer (if any) assisting in the enquiry, and a full report summarizing the proceeding and containing the recommendation of the Forest Settlement Officer concerning the constitution of the proposed reserve, the manner in which claims have been disposed of, and the prevailed if any which should in the Forest Settlement Officers opinion, be granted, whether any have been claimed or not. The Forest Officer's (if any) assisting in the enquiry should see the draft of the report, and may record in writing any remarks he may wish to make and any such remarks should be filed with and form part of the proceeding. The report should distinctly state whether the Forest Office agrees or disagrees with the Forest Settlement Officer either generally or on any specified point, but it shall not be signed by the Forest Officer. A statement of the limits of the reserve as finally recommended and statement in the prescribes forms of any right claimed in respect of the proposed reserve, should be attached to the proceeding. The Form A, B and C, in which the statements of claims should be recorded, are appended to these instructions.

- (x) (a) A map of the area proposed to be reserved should be prepared by the Forest Officer for the approval of the Forest Settlement Officer and should be signed by both Officer when it is finally passed by them. The boundaries of the reserve originally proposed should be outlined with a dotted red line and the area finally recommended with a dotted green line. Other existing reserve in the neighbourhood should have their boundaries outlined with a continuous green line. Areas excluded from the proposed reserve but within its boundaries should be surrounded with a dotted green line and the area in which jhum cultivation is permitted should be coloured with a green wash. Paths and roads over which rights of way are reserved for the should be indicated by brown broken line. The map must contain, legibly written, the names of all rivers, villages, ridges, etc., without exception mentioned in the statement of boundaries, and as far as possible of all those mentioned in proceedings of the Forest Settlement Officer.

- (b) The map should be prepared on the scale of 2 inches equal to 1 mile. Where there is too small a scale to illustrate the intricacies of certain portion of the boundary, these portions should be dealt with on a separate plan, or as an inset to the main plan.
- (c) Where Survey of Indian maps of scales not smaller than 1 inch equal to 1 mile exist, use should be made of these. The Forest Officer should ascertain from the provincial Survey office whether maps on the one-inch scale, if any, exist of the are in which the imposed reserve fills, and where such maps exist the office-in-charger of the Assam Traverse Party and Drawing Officer should be requested to supply paragraph enlargements to the 2-inch scale of the particular area with which it is required to deal. The Forest Officer should then supplement and correct this enlargements on the ground as may be found necessary for his purpose.
- (d) In order to attain uniformity in the spelling of names of and in reserved forest so that forest maps and notifications may, as far as possible agree, the following rules should be observed :

1. The spelling of proper names may be taken from the Survey of India Publications, where such are forthcoming. The orthography of these maps is reliable.

In the case of reserved forests, which have neither been mapped nor notified, Conservator of Forest concerned to obtain the correct spelling of names.

2. For reserved forests that have been notified but not mapped the Survey will insert the correct spelling in all their maps and will notify the Conservator concerned of corrections to names which appeared in the notification; an amended notification will be issued if the errors are numerous and serious.

- (xi) When the appeals, if any, preferred against the Forest Settlement Officer's orders have been disposed of, and the statements of rights and privileges completed, if necessary, in accordance with the result of such appeals, the proceedings of the Forest Settlement Officer, with the proceedings if any, held by the appellate authority should be submitted for the Governors orders by the Commissioner, if the forest is situated in the Assam Valley districts, other wise by the Deputy Commissioner thorough the Conservator of Forests.

Right of the State in land or produce.

The granting of concession is very different thing from the admission of a right the permission which is sometimes granted to raiyats to continue to collect firewood or graze cattle in or to use a path through, a forth after reservation, in case where they are show to have a special claim to consideration, is granted as matter of grace, and not of legal obligation. Should any “rights” be found to exist by a Forest Settlement Officer in the case of future proposals to constitute forest reserves the special attention of the Government should be drawn to finding. For the present, it is sufficient to say that no private or public right in land, or the produce thereof, or recognized day the state as existing in Assam other than those specially declared to exist by S. 6 of the Assam land and Revenue Regulation of 1886: nor is there any reasonable probability of such right ever being claimed. Even assuming the bare possibility of any person there after claiming some sport of right in land, or in the produce of land “at the disposal of the State”, the view that such a possibility, which no doubt, is entirely remove in the case of reserved Forest reduces the actual status of the State in such land below that which it holds in reserved Forests, is one the Government cannot accept: this explains why he has thought is necessary to give legal beside to the action of the Forest department in levying special relates of royalty in reserved forest .

1. Limit of temporary privilege.

The maximum limit of the period for which temporary privileges may be granted in reserved forests is reserved forests is fixed at ten years. Forest Officer should obtain notice of the dates of Forest Settlement Officers inquiries in to rights and privileges in areas proposed as reserves, and bring to the Conservator’s notice facts which might prove detrimental to forest conservancy, or matters which may not be sufficiently understood by the Settlement Officer.

Article 58 of the Forest Department Code lays down values not to be exceeded except with the sanction of the Central Government.

2. Amended description of boundaries.

Cases arise in which it may be desirable to publish, by means of a fresh notification, amended description of the boundaries of forest reserve already notified under S.17 of the Assam Forest Regulation or under other forest enactments. It has been ascertained that there is no legal objection to this course, if the fresh notification merely provides for the substitution of more exact and description of the boundaries for that which was originally notified and which, through purporting to describe the boundaries as they existed at the time, has subsequently; become incorrect or proved to be open to misconstruction. The appended form of notification is considered suitable for such cases, and may be employed wherever necessary.

The procedure permitted in the forgoing paragraph must not be held to extend to any such alteration of the boundaries on the ground as would involve either the inclusion of new areas or the exclusion of any lands which have been declared by the previous notification to be reserved forests. Such changes require either a new settlement of the addition it is proposed to make or, in case of disforestation, the previous sanction of the Central Government.

NOTIFICATION

With reference to Notification No., dated theunder section.....of the Assam Forest Regulation (VII of 1891), at page of the official Gazette of the, declaring the forests to be reserved forest is pleased to direct that the following amended and more evacuated description of the boundaries of the said forest be substituted for the description contained in the said notification.

3. Disforesting of forest areas.

A draft notification in the form appended to this rule must, subject to such minor modification as local circumstance may render expedient or necessary, accompany every application to the Central Government for sanction to disforest.

In all such applications it should be stated whether or not the local revenue and forest authorities agree to the disforestation proposed; and in the event of any objection to such disforestation being urged, its nature should be recorder for the information of the Government of India.

The advisability of submitting with the application a map illustrating the proposals made should be considered in each case by the State Government concerned.

DRAFT NOTIFICATION

The Governor (with the previous sanction of the President) is hereby pleased to declare under to provisions of section..... of that the area specified below, which in Notification No.dated the, was declared to be reserved forest under section of that..... shall cease to be reserved forest, with effect from the.....

Boundaries

Brief description

Reason for disforestation

The Central Government will be constrained to return, for correction, any application to sanction exclusions from reserved forests, where the description of boundaries is inaccurate or not sufficiently detailed or prices.

4. Provincial Government may disforest an area up to ten square miles.

Under the authority vested in him by S. 28 of the Assam Forest Regulation (VII of 1891), as amended by the Assam Forest (Amendment) Regulation, III of 1912, the President has ruled that the Governor of Assam may, without reference to the Government of India, sanction disforest stations from reserved forests in territories in which the Assam Forest Regulation is in force when the area involved does not exceed ten square miles in case.

It was held in the context of the case in Baghmari Tea Co. Ltd. v. Divisional Forest Officer [1988 (2) GLJ 439], that royalty cannot be realised by the State on trees unless the State be owner of the same. The trees in the growth of which no part has been played by the State, cannot be made subject of royalty.

Under the deeming provisions of R. 21, where the land has been settled for 20 years, all trees standing thereon shall be presumed to have been planted during the pendency of the lease and should also apply to leases given for special cultivation whose period is more than 20 years. [Baghmari Tea Co Ltd. v. D.F.O., 1988 (2) GLJ 439]

Where trees were on the land when the lease was granted but had been grown subsequently, no royalty for the same can be demanded [ibid]

22. Refund of value of timber or resignation of a grant.

entitled to a refund, in respect of all unused timber, of the royalty paid at the time of settlement.

- (ii) Where the area resigned is not a compact area of 250 acres, refund of the royalty paid at the time of settlement in respect of all unused timber may be made at the discretion of the Commissioner.
- (iii) Where a settlement-holder resigns land on which valuable trees have been planted subsequent to settlement, a fair valuation of the trees standing on the land may be paid to the settlement-holder at the discretion of the State Government.
- (iv) When a refund is claimed under Cl (i) or (ii) it shall be for the settlement holder to prove the amount of royalty paid at the time of settlement in respect of the area resigned. The Deputy Commissioner shall cause a Forest Officer to estimate what proportion the value of the standing trees bears to the value of the trees at the time of settlement, and the amount of the refund shall bear the same proportion to the amount of royalty paid at the time of settlement; provided that the Commissioner may at his discretion authorise a Forest Officer to assess the timber at its present market value in situ, in cases where it is not possible to prove the amount of royalty a paid in respect of the area resigned.

Explanation

The expression “public road” includes any road maintained by the State Government or by a local board, and any other road declared by the Deputy Commissioner to be a public road for the purposes of this rule.

Executive orders regarding the elephant hunting rules

- 1. The maintenance of a stock of wild elephants suitable for any elephant hunting area shall be ensured by regulating the length for the intervals of rest or by limiting the number of stockades, the hunting season or the number of koonkies to be employed, but not ordinarily by limiting the number of elephants that may be caught during season.
- 2. The Deputy Commissioner in consultation with the Divisional Forest Officer shall report by the 1st February in each year to the Commissioner as to the necessity for elephant hunting operations in his district during the following season, indicating the areas where such operations should be undertaken, and the Commissioner after consulting the Conservator of Forests shall report by 1st of May in each year for the sanction of the Provincial Government what areas should be opened, what method of capture should be allowed and what royalty should be charged for each elephant caught.
- 3. The Conservator of Forests, after consulting the Commissioner, will submit by 1st June in each year for the sanction of the State Government a list of any areas in which it is desired to conduct elephant hunting operations by the Forest Department. After sanction the Deputy Commissioner

Dated Deputy commissioner.”

4. When it is decided by the State that khedda shikar area should be opened for a second season, the Deputy Commissioner in consultation with the Conservator of Forests may renew the licence of a manger who has worked satisfactorily during the previous season.

5. The Deputy Commissioner in whose district it is decided to open a mahal should arrange that necessary licences to each elephants and carry arms are issued to the mahaldar well ahead of the date of opening of the mahal as the success of the operations frequently depends upon the prompt receipt of these licences. Depot officers also should avoid delay in issuing transit passes when demanded by the purchasers of elephants after payment of royalty due to the State as any delay in this matter may prevent the profitable disposal of the elephants by the traders.

6. When issuing licences Deputy Commissioners should inform Mahaldars that mal elephants that are too big for the koonkies to tackle may be destroyed as soon as they are caught in a stockade. The mahaldar must report such occurrences immediately to the Depot Officer, and in the case of tuskers should deliver the tusks, which remain the property of the State at the nearest forest office.

No royalty will be paid on elephants thus destroyed.

7. Rewards to finders of elephant tusk.

- (1) In order to make the production of tusks more attractive to finders and to prevent smuggling and loss of revenue, the finder of a tusk will be given a reward in a single and final payment up to 30 per cent of the estimated sale value of the ivory. To enable Divisional Forest Officers to estimate the value of ivory for the purpose of the payment, a scale of value shall be fixed by the Conservator of Forests, for each district or group of district, from time to time corresponding to the fluctuations in value according to size, weight, etc., of the ivory. The Divisional Forest Officers should obtain sanction of the Conservator of Forests to the payment of reward for the full amounts of 30 per cent, of the value. This rule will not apply to the Garo Hills where the Deputy Commissioner has fully discretion in the matter of granting rewards to the finders of elephant tusks.

- (2) The Conservator of Forests has been authorised to sanction the payment of rewards for the production of elephant tusks in the Naga Hills District up to 50 per cent of the value.

9. A court-fee of twelve annas should be strictly insisted upon by all Deputy Commissioners on each application on each application for a licence to catch wild elephants.

COMMENTS

These executive orders were added by Memo No FOR-334/2205-08-R, dated the 25th July, 1935.

CHAPTER 6

Miscellaneous Rules

(B) Royalties from quarries

Supply of forest produce to other Government departments

In Central Government Circular No. 2-F, dated the 24th January, 1889, it was decided that the revenue realised from quarries and minor mineral products in Government forests and lands, which are under the management of Forest Department, should be credited to "Forest"; but where such forests and lands are not under the management of that department, to "Land Revenue (Miscellaneous)."

The question whether, under these rulings the Forest Department is entitled to charge royalty to another department of Government upon minerals taken from the forest area, has more than once come before the Central Government : but, though it has usually been decided, on these individual references, that the Forest Department was entitled to levy a royalty on all materials supplied to other departments, no definite general ruling on the subject has yet been laid down. The Central Government now consider it desirable to issue formal orders in the matter for general guidance, in order to secure uniformity of procedure and to prevent the possibility of misunderstanding. They consider that a distinction may properly be drawn between vegetable products which strictly appertain to a forest as such, and animal product which depend for their existence, either directly or indirectly upon the presence of the forest, on the one hand, mineral products, the existence of which is independent of the fact that the land is a forest, on the other. They consider, also, that it is undesirable to extend to contractors working for a Government department, any privileges which the department itself may enjoy when operating directly by its own establishment.

They direct therefore that the Forest Department shall charge other Government departments for all vegetable or animal products extracted from a forest area, in the same manner in which it charges the public; and that it shall similarly charge contractors for all mineral products extracted by them, whether on behalf of a Government department or not. If a Government department extracts mineral products for sale, they also will be charged for. But the Forest Department will not charge other Government departments for mineral products extracted from a forest area by the direct agency of the department concerned under its own supervision and without the intervention of contractors or middlemen, for its own use, and not for disposal to the public or other departments. For such products the Forest Department will take no credit in the Public (Treasury) Accounts of Government. But for statistical purposes the value of these products should be shown in the returns furnished by the Forest Department, just as the value of timber and other forest produce removed by free grantees or right-holders is already shown.

The ruling that certain forest produces shall not be charged for if directly extracted by other Government departments for their own use, in no way confers upon such departments any right of entry upon or working in the areas under the charge of the Forest Department. That department retains its powers of control; and, subject to the orders of superior authority, will continue to fix and limit the localities where such extraction may take place, and to impose any conditions which it may consider necessary for the safety of its forest and the convenience of its own work.

The above ruling will apply, mutatis mutandis to every class of forest or wasteland at the disposal of the State independently of the agency by which such land may be administered.

(B) Construction of roads

Construction of roads through reserved forests by tea planters

The Conservator of Forests is authorised to permit the construction of roads through reserved forest by tea planters

when such roads are likely to prove of advantage to the Forest Department on the following conditions :

- (i) That the breadth and alignment of the road be approved by the Divisional Forest Officer.
- (ii) That timber growing on the proposed alignment of road may be utilised free of charge for the purpose of construction bridges and that, if necessary additional timber may be granted from the reserves for this purpose.
- (iii) That the road will remain reserved forest, and no right of any kind whatever in the land covered by the road will be conferred on the planter constructing it.

(C) Encampment in forests

Troops in reserved forests

With a view to prevent complaints of damage being done in Government reserved forests on the passage through such forest of troops and camp followers of any regiment or detachment, it has been arranged with the military authorities that at least two weeks' notice of the date of marching and the route to be followed shall, except in cases of sudden emergency, be given by the Officers Commanding to the Divisional Forest Officer, with a view to enable the latter to deputy a forest guard or other official to accompany the troops, and to point out to them which trees and saplings or other forest produce may be cut and which may not be cut. No permission will, however, be needed to collect dead firewood.

It should be understood that no clearances whatsoever should be made in Government reserved forests, and that the places of encampment should be restricted to the grounds provided for that purpose.

(D) Rewards

Rewards may be granted to any Officer in the public service who is not a Gazetted Officer, and to informers, as follows :

- (i) When a sum of money has been accepted by way of compensation under S. 62 of the Assam Forest Regulation, the Conservator of Forests may award any portion of such sum not exceeding one hundred rupees; or a Divisional Forest Officer, specially empowered by the Conservator in his behalf may, in the like circumstances similarly award any portion of such sum not exceeding 20 rupees.
- (ii) When a person has been convicted by Magistrate of an offence under the Assam Forest Regulation, the Deputy Commissioners at head quarters and in sub-divisions the Sub-divisional Officer, may, on the application of the Divisional Forest Officer, award a sum which is not in excess of the amount recommended by such Forest Officer and of the proceeds of any fine or confiscation, or both ordered by the conviction court. The Divisional Forest Officer should submit his recommendation to the Deputy Commissioner or the Sub-divisional Officer, as the case may be, through the trying Magistrate, who will add such remarks as he thinks necessary. In the case of prosecution instituted by the police the recommendations for rewards should be submitted by the prosecuting officer through the trying Magistrate, the Superintendent of Police and the Divisional Forest Officer being informed of the action taken in order to give them an opportunity of amending the recommendations of the prosecution officer if necessary;

If no fines or confiscation has been ordered by convicting court, or if the proceeds thereof are in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner or the Sub-divisional Officer, as the case may be, insufficient for the purpose, the Deputy Commissioner may, on the application of the Divisional Forest Officer, grant a reward not exceeding the amount recommended by such Forest Officer, to be paid out of the funds at the disposal of such Forest Officer; provided that a Divisional Forest Officer or prosecuting officer shall not recommend the payment of a reward under this rule in excess of Rs. 20. If they consider that a large reward should be given, they should refer the matter to the Conservator who is authorised to recommend a reward exceeding Rs.100.

- (iii) In cases other than those mentioned in Cls. (i) and (ii) the Divisional Forest Officer may grant a reward not exceeding twenty rupees and the Conservator may grant such rewards in excess of twenty rupees; provided that no reward exceeding two hundred rupees shall be granted under this rule in any one case; provided also that no reward shall be granted under the foregoing rules to any Forest Officer unless he has displayed unusual ability, diligence, courage or acumen or endured exceptional hardship or risk,.

Note.

- (1) Deputy Conservators of Forest and Extra Deputy Conservators of Forests have been authorised by the Conservators of Forests to grant rewards.
- (2) This rule is applicable for the purpose of granting rewards to finders of rhino horns.

Conservators of Forests authorised to sanction the grant of a reward not exceeding Rs. 100 to any person who gives reliable information regarding the commission of an offence : provided that he is not concerned in any way in the commission of this offence.

(E) Duties of Mauzadars in unclassified State forests.

In the Assam Valley Districts tahsildars and mauzadars will be in immediate charge of, and responsible for the management, and due observance of rules relating to unclassified State forests within their jurisdiction under the order of the Divisional Forest Officer. All breaches of the rules relating to such Forests must be reported by them to the Divisional Forest Officer. They are also responsible for making rules issued under the Forest Regulation known to all persons concerned throughout their respective jurisdictions. They are further bound to prevent the felling and removal from the unclassified State forests in their charge of wood or other forest produce, except where such felling and removal is authorised by the rules in force relating to such forests.

In the Surma Valley unclassified State forests will be in the immediate charge of subordinate officers of the Forest Department under the orders of Divisional Forest Officer. The tahsildars of the Surma Valley will have no concern with such forests.

The system of managing unclassified State forests in force in the Assam Valley districts is extended to the Jaintia parganas of Sylhet. The subordinate officers of the Forest Department will continue to take part in the management of unclassified State Forests in Jaintia as they do in the Assam Valley, issuing permits, controlling fellings, and enquiring into breaches of the Forest rules. The tahsildars in Jaintia will be responsible for the observance of the rules relating to unclassified State forests in their respective jurisdictions under the Divisional Forest Officer; they will be required to report any breaches of the rules which may come to their notice, and will be empowered to issue trade and home consumption permits.

Instructions to mauzadars in matters concerning raiyats must bear the Divisional Forest Officer's signature and vernacular translations must be carefully scrutinised to avoid errors.

The Conservator of Forests is authorised to import coolies for the use of the Forest Department whenever it appears advantageous to do so.

(F) Sale of Forest Mahals and Coupes

- (1) In selling forest mahals in unclassified State forests due regard should be paid to the requirement of local villagers who need forest produce for any home industries that may be carried on. In such cases either smaller mahals should be formed so that they can be taken up by the local people of a certain area of the forest land should be reserved so that the necessary forest produce for the home industries can be extracted under the ordinary permit system.

- (2) When formation of a new forest mahal is proposed, it should be carefully considered how such mahal may affect the use of forests and of waste lands in it by the surrounding population and the Deputy Commissioner must be consulted before new mahals are formed. The list of the mahals to be sold in each district should be carefully examined by the Deputy Commissioner in consultation with the Divisional Forest Officer and all mahals that are likely to bring in very little revenue and the retention of which in the sale list cannot be supported by any special reason from a departmental point of view, should be struck off the list. This should, however, be done without prejudice to the right of the State to reconstitute these mahals should circumstances justify such action in the future.
- (3) Forest Officers, when disposing of timber, should consider and make such arrangement as are possible to supply on reasonable terms the domestic needs of the surrounding population and in order to encourage local people to work in the forest as traders, the size of the coupes should be reduced, where this is practicable.

- (4) The sale notice of a forest mahal or coupe should be in the vernacular and should state the name of the mahal or coupe, its approximate area and other particulars necessary for its identification, the term and prices for which it was sold on the last occasion, the term for which it will now be sold and the date, place and conditions of the sale. The notice should be published at least a month before the date of sale at all range offices within the locality covered by the mahal, at the local thana, sub-registry office, circle office, at the Kutchery of the Deputy Commissioner or Sub-divisional Officer and in the bazars in the neighbourhood of the mahal. The divisional Forest Officer should consult the Deputy Commissioner or the Sub-divisional Officer concerned as to particular places where the sale notices should be published and the latter officers will give any necessary assistance in the publication of the notice.

(G) Appointment of Honorary Forest Officers

Selected Indian and European gentlemen, living in the vicinity of Game Sanctuary or Forest Reserves, may be appointed Honorary Forest Officers under S. 3 (1) of Assam Forest Regulation by the Conservator of Forests, Assam; provided that they are in a position to render assistance in the protection of forest and the preservation of wild life; and provided that the Deputy Commissioners and the Political Officers concerned have no objections. Such appointments, a list of which will be submitted every three years for approval of the Provincial Government, will be renewable after every three years and in each case will be limited as regards jurisdiction to the particular areas where the assistance of Honorary Forest Officers is required. All Honorary Forest Officers will be assistants to the Divisional Forest Officers in the areas for which they are appointed, but without jurisdiction over the divisional staff. They will exercise powers in whole or in part, as shall be determined in each case by the Conservator depending on whether the appointment is for the general protection of the forests or only for the preservation of wild life, under Ss. 49, 49-A, 60 and 61 of Assam Forest Regulation. They will become liable under S. 58 (1), and will be bound to take appropriate action under S.74.
